Kukkarahalli Lake full to the brim

Seepage threat for bund safety

Additional canal being dug up to facilitate excess water to flow out

Earthmover is being used to dig an additional canal this morning for excess water to drain out.

Mysuru, Oct. 23 (MTY&BCT)- Continuous seepage of water from the bund of Kukkarahalli Lake on the Bogadi-Gaddige Road has caused concern and environment activists have warned of disastrous consequences if the seepage is not prevented immediately.

"The Kukkarahalli Lake bund is essentially an earthen dam. Seepage of water through the earthen body of the dam (at the lower level, just above the level of the Bogadi Road) removes finer particles of earth. This can only increase the rate of seepage and lead to further loss of earth from the body of the bund, affecting the structural integrity of the bund," Maj. Gen. (retd.) S.G. Vombatkere told Star of Mysore this morning.

"If seepage continues, it can lead to collapse of a section of the bund. Such a collapse will be disastrous, leading to loss of life and property, besides the loss of the water body (the Lake) itself and the associated biodiversity," he said.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Life is too short to waste any amount of time on people and places that do not realise your value. Those who know your worth will find a way to value you.

On his deathbed, a father gave an old watch to his son and said: "Here is a watch your grandfather gave me when I was about your age. It is more than 200 years old. It belongs to you now but first, go to the jewellery store and find out how much they are willing to offer you."

The son did what he was told, came back to his father, and said: "They offered me only five hundred rupees because it is really old."

The father smiled and said: "Well, now go to the pawnshop and find out what they are willing to give you." The son went to the pawnshop, came back embarrassed and said: "The pawnshop offered only two hundred rupees because it has a scratch and looks unkempt."

The father smiled some more and said: "Now it's time for you to go to the museum." The son again did as he was told and came back rather excited. "The curator at the museum offered three lakh rupees for the watch as he said it would be a great addition to their treasured antique collection."

The father then said: "You can do what you want with the watch, I just wanted you to know that the right place and the right people will value you in the right way. Don't go to the wrong place, seeking your worth and then get upset because you are not valued." The son held the watch and the lesson close to his heart.

More often than not, we let other people decide our worth. We let them tell us that we are asking for too much, that we don't deserve what we are asking for or that we are in one way or another wrong in simply asking.

Make sure you don't start seeing yourself through the eyes of those who don't value you. Instead, find someone or some place that sees you as something of exquisite value, like a museum full of art and loves to listen to the stories you have to tell.

Astronaut does yoga in space

Europe: Yoga is not just good for your physical well-being, it also helps in strengthening mental health. But have you ever wondered what it's like to perform yoga in space? A European Space Agency astronaut Samantha Cristoforetti in a new viral video can be seen acing a difficult yoga pose in zero gravity.

Cristoforetti can be seen striking different yoga poses by following an instructor of Cosmic Kids- a platform for mindfulness for kids. The astronaut is wearing elastic bands in zero gravity. In the 15-second clip, she is performing an eagle eye pose by balancing her body while she holds the posture in a criss-cross position.

Yoga in weightlessness? Done! It's a bit tricky, but with the right poses and some creative freedom you can do it," reads the caption of the post.

Extra-terrestrial water found in meteorite

Gloucester: Extra-terrestrial water has been found for the first time in a meteorite that has fallen in the UK – and could provide clues as to where Earth's water came from.

The Winchcombe meteorite, which crashed into a driveway in the Gloucestershire town last February, is also thought to hold clues about where the water in the Earth's vast oceans came from.

Ashley King, a researcher in the planetary materials group at the Natural History Museum, said 12 percent of the sample was made up of water and it offers a lot of insights.

He told that the composition of that water is very, very similar to the composition of water in the Earth's oceans.

"It's a really good piece of evidence that asteroids and bodies like Winchcombe made a very important contribution to the Earth's oceans."

Heritage structures need constant monitoring

Sir,

This is regarding the report titled "Portion of Mysore Palace fort wall collapses near Kote Maramma Temple" in Star of Mysore dated Oct.18.

Since the structure is more than 100 years old, it is surprising that the dilapidated wall was noticed only a month ago.

Heritage structures need constant monitoring by the authorities. Making an effort for Dasara-sake on Palace property is disheartening.

Hope those concerned with maintenance of heritage structures have given the contract specifications with ecological method in mind and lime mortar will be used to rebuild the wall.

Please do not use substandard materials with cement and spoil the look of the wall. In other countries, the rectifications are done without altering the old method and the final look and feel will be unnoticed by visitors. We expect the same to be maintained by the supervising team here too.

Crowd management needed at Chamundi Hill Temple

Sir,

In a span of 2 to 3 months, I have visited Chamundi Hill Temple twice and both the times, I had bad experience near the entrance to garbhagudi. As one reaches the sanctum sanctorum, there is a lot of push and pull, thus disturbing the minds of devotees who would want some peace of mind and pray for the well-being of their family or seek fulfilment of the vows.

My question is, when other temples with huge crowds are able to manage, why can't we do the same at Chamundi Temple and enable devotees to have a good experience? Hope the Temple Administration will look into this in right earnest.

Title deeds distributed to 96 handicrafts artisans in first phase

MP Pratap Simha and MLA L. Nagendra distributing title deeds to one of the beneficiaries at Karakushalanagar on Friday as others look on.

Mysuru, Oct. 23 (TRR)- A layout for the handicrafts artisans has been formed in the city and 96 persons were given title deeds for their houses in the first phase on Friday at a function held at the community hall in Karakushalanagar.

Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha and Chamaraja MLA L. Nagendra distributed the title deeds to the beneficiaries.

Speaking on the occasion, Karnataka State Handicrafts Development Corporation (KSHDC) Managing Director Roopa D. Moudgil said that since there is a demand for the handicraft products that are produced here, we will initiate required steps to provide all facilities to produce and market them. "There are 13 Craft Complexes and 10 Emporiums to promote handicrafts. We have 2,800 empanelled artisans. To strengthen handicrafts, Corporation Emporiums will be opened in various parts of the world," added Roopa.

KSHDC has allotted 486 sites to artisans who were staying in the huts at Karakushalanagar near Metagalli. These artisans were involved in the manufacture of handicrafts items, carving and painting jobs. Sites developed in an area of 18.11 acres were allotted to these artisans and later though houses were constructed by the Corporation through Slum Board and Rajiv Gandhi Housing Corporation Ltd., title deeds were not given to them despite the beneficiaries paying their full amount 10-15 years ago and submitted applications for their title deeds.

However, Roopa Moudgil, after becoming MD of KSHDC, took the initiative to provide them with title deeds. Now in the first phase, owners of 96 houses have been given the title deed. For others, document verification needs to be done and they have been assured that title deed will be given shortly.

"KSHDC will soon have a global presence and we are also opening two more Emporiums in Mysuru to promote the handicraft products. We have initiated new steps to provide e-Commerce business opportunities to enable online purchase of more than 600 products of KSHDC," said Roopa Moudgil.

"The issue of non-availability of title deed and the resultant inconvenience to the house owners was brought to the notice of Housing Minister V. Somanna who took interest in the matter and initiated measures to give title deeds across the State. Following this, Karakushalanagar residents are being distributed title deeds today," said MP Pratap Simha.

"If the KSHDC hands over the community hall at Karakushalanagar to City Corporation, we will develop the layout by providing basic facilities," said MLA L. Nagendra.

KSHDC Chairman Maruti Mallappa Ashtagi, Director G.N. Dayananda, Corporator Ramesh, Assistant Director of the Office of the Development Commissioner (Handicrafts), Ministry of Textiles, Government of India, Sunilkumar and Joint Director of Department of Industries and Commerce C. Dinesh were present on the occasion.

JD(S) begins primary preparations for

Assembly polls under GTD's leadership

Mysuru, Oct. 23- The JD(S), which is hoping to come to power on its own in next year's Assembly elections, started its primary poll preparations atop Chamundi Hill here on Friday.

JD(S) supremo and former Prime Minister H.D. Deve Gowda (HDD), along with Chamundeshwari MLA G.T. Devegowda (GTD), offered special prayers to the deity at the Hill Temple and sought the blessings of Goddess Chamundeshwari.

Speaking on the occasion, HDD said that GTD, a senior leader, has been made party incharge of Mysuru district.

Maintaining that GTD has been given complete control of the party affairs in the district, he said that there is no opposition within the party for this.

Asking those who have objections on making GTD the incharge of the party in the district, to leave the party, the former PM said that he has overcome many such dissidence in the past.

He further said that it was GTD who was responsible for making Chikkamadu from ST community as an MLC long ago.

H.D. Deve Gowda G.T. Devegowda

GTD, who also spoke, said that former Prime Minister Deve Gowda, who is also a Rajya Sabha MP, had not been keeping well for the past six months. Now he has come to Mysuru after his health improved and he has prayed the deity seeking better health, GTD said.

Pointing out that HDD has also prayed that he will start the party's election campaign from Chamundi Hill Temple by performing Chandika Homa in January 2023, GTD said that he was happy to be with HDD once again after a gap of three years, during which he had maintained a distance from the party.

"I feel happy that HDD has visited my house and had lunch. Now there are no confusions in my mind and will strive for brining JD(S) to power in the State", he said adding that he had started making poll preparations in right earnest.

GTD also announced that the names of JD(S) candidates for six Assembly segments of the district has been finalised. While he (GTD) would contest from Chamundeshwari constituency, his son G.D. 700-year-old Shiva Temple discovered near Virajpet

Madikeri, Oct. 23- An ancient Shiva Temple, said to be about 700 years old, has been discovered at Bollumadu village in Virajpet taluk. The temple, found at a spot behind the Post Office on Kadanga Paraane is in a highly dilapidated state and is on the verge of total collapse.

The temple, said to be built using red stones, first came to be known to the villagers through Tantris in 2008. Subsequently, the villagers had cleaned up the spot by cutting down the trees around the temple. But as the temple was not accessible by road, no renovation works could be taken up and the temple remained in its dilapidated state.

However, the temple exploration resumed two days ago with villagers again cleaning the vicinity by cutting down the bushes and other plants. During the exploration, a Shivalinga stone sculpture was found in the well of the temple premises. Also, the almighty's Ayudha (weapon) 'Kadtale' and small Ganapathi idols have been discovered. This apart, the stone sculptured images of Tripata, Kumuda, Jagatti, Kanta, Pattika and Devakoshta Sopanas were found at the temple foundation. After the discovery of the ancient temple, Bollumada villagers contacted Nayakanda Prakash, who is staying at Mysuru, seeking his help for tracing the history of the ancient temple. Prakash is a former official of Archaeological Survey of India and had also served as a site supervisor at Ram Janmabhumi in Ayodhya, UP.

Prakash, who visited the spot, opined that the temple dedicated to Lord Shiva may be 600 to 700 years old and it may also be a contemporary of the times of the ancient Bhagamandala Temple.

Prakash, who collected some documents regarding the site, observed that an excavation was necessary to trace the complete history of the temple, according to Bollumadu Gram Panchayat President Matanda Arun. Pointing out that the spot where the temple has been discovered is said to be a Pysari land, Matanda Arun said that a few families are residing in the vicinity of the newly discovered temple. Though the temple was discovered earlier, it could not be reached as there was no access and as such no one bothered to go there. Now a huge tree has fallen on the temple's 'Garbhagudi' (Sanctum Sanctorum), destroying it. Now, a villager has come forward to part with his land to make way for accessing the temple, Arun said adding that the Kodagu District Administration will be appealed to take up excavation of this centuries old temple.

Srirangapatna, Oct. 23 (Vinay Karekura & BCT)- The Forest Department has begun combing operations to trap the elusive leopard that was spotted in the Brindavan Gardens yesterday. Over 15 to 18 personnel from Mandya and Pandavapura Forest wings are combing the vast area and the operation started last evening.

A leopard was spotted at Brindavan Gardens forcing the authorities of Cauvery Neeravari Nigama Limited (CNNL) to order the closure of the Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) Dam to the tourists, considering their safety.

The leopard was found sauntering along the wall of the Dam at 12 noon by a few workers who were working in the Brindavan Gardens. One of the workers hid himself amid bushes and he saw the feline springing onto the nearby steps of the Visvesvaraya Canal.

The leopard entered the Gardens where it camouflaged itself in the vegetation before making a run behind the Royal Orchid Metropole Hotel. The workers later alerted the CNNL authorities and the Karnataka State Industrial Security Force (KISF) and the Brindavan Gardens was declared closed for an indefinite period. Even some tourists sighted the big cat. Forest officials were alerted and they traced the pug marks of the leopard on the premises. Hundreds of tourists had thronged the KRS Dam yesterday due to the extended weekend and holidays early next week in view of Deepavali celebrations. However, all were sent back and the gates were locked.

Forest Department staff combing the area around the Brindavan Gardens this morning.

The combing operation began last evening and it continued this morning by a couple of teams.

Range Forest Officer (RFO) Anita told Star of Mysore that since there was no sighting of the leopard's movement, they have decided to place a cage with bait hoping that the leopard will be trapped.

Last evening, a movement was spotted by the KISF men and the CCTV footage has been handed over to the Forest Department. But as the CCTV visuals are not clear, the Department has ruled out any sort of movement. "Visuals are hazy and we are not sure if it is a leopard or a dog. We are continuing the combing operations and apart from surveying the area in vehicles, we are also searching for the feline's clues on foot," she added.

People and guests inside the Royal Orchid Metropole Hotel have been asked not to venture out. "Leopards are shy animals and will not stay in one place for long. However, we are continuing the search as this is a tourist place and a sensitive location," the RFO added.

A decision on opening the Brindavan Gardens and the Dam will be taken only after assessment and discussion with the CNNL authorities.

"Yesterday as soon as the leopard was spotted, we asked tourists to leave the place immediately while the ticket counters were closed. We cannot take risk with so many tourists and children around and any hasty decision will not be taken," an officer said.

"A decision to reopen the gardens will be taken only today evening or tomorrow provided there are no indications of leopard movement. Till then, the uncertainty will continue," he added.

Incidentally, this is the second time that a leopard has been spotted at the KRS Dam since the last few months. Last time, a cage was placed to trap it but the feline remained elusive.

High cracker prices Deepavali dampener

But crowds at cracker stalls keep up festive spirit high

Mysuru, Oct. 23 (MTY&BCT)- Deepavali celebrations which are just three days away will definitely pinch the pocket of consumers as prices of firecrackers have gone up by 35 to 40 percent this year. According to wholesalers and retailers, the hike in prices is linked to both shortage of crackers and increase in the manufacturing costs and lack of pre-orders.

"This year we have only 70 percent of the usual stock because the majority of the big cracker brands at Sivakasi in Tamil Nadu have supplied fewer crackers owing to lack of pre-orders," a trader told Star of Mysore. Manufacturers in Sivakasi have also reduced mass production of crackers and are only taking up production based on pre-order, he added.

Wholesalers in Mysuru city in the Hebbal area told Star of Mysore that the prices of raw materials, especially the paper used to make crackers have gone up. Now, each kilogram of paper is being sold for Rs. 27 to Rs. 45 and it is impossible to make crackers with these high prices," he said.

Apart from paper, prices of most of the materials used to make crackers have gone up. For instance, potassium nitrate which was priced at Rs. 60 a kg last year now comes at Rs. 145. Prices of sodium nitrate and metals used in assembling fireworks have also increased significantly. This has led to an average price jump of 35 to 40 percent.

"Usually, orders and indents are placed two to three months in advance. This year, stockists and wholesalers waited for the prices to come down and delayed the placing of indents. Now there is a huge demand for crackers at Sivakasi and the manufacturers are supplying crackers in limited quantities that are brought in bulk of 10 to 12 loads by businessmen in Andhra Pradesh and Telangana," said Manikantha of 'Pataki Mane' in Hebbal.

Shortage of labour

Another wholesale dealer said that shortage of labour had resulted in a decrease in production, pushing up prices. "Many wholesalers are yet to get the supply of crackers since most of the manufacturing companies faced a labour shortage," he added.

Harish Babu, a wholesale dealer and member of Hebbal Fireworks Dealers' Association said that there has been good response from the public despite high prices. "This year, there are more than 10 to 15 new varieties of crackers and the buyers are spoilt for choice.

Another factor that has affected the production this year is that the manufacturers at Sivakasi have put a ceiling of Rs. 2 lakh and refused supply to people who ordered below Rs. 2 lakh. This has allowed the monopoly of only big players who purchase more than three to four loads, retail traders said.

"Continuous rains have also dampened the market and many retailers who have set shops at J.K. Grounds are facing slush and rainwater-filled grounds. Customers will not come here to buy as the grounds are soggy and filled with slush," a retailer said.

No noise zones

Meanwhile, Mysuru City Police have declared `no noise zones' in a radius of 100 metres around Sri Chamarajendra Zoological Gardens (Mysuru Zoo), Kukkarahalli Lake, Karanji Lake, Lingambudhi Lake, public parks, hospitals, nursing homes, educational institutions, Court and religious places in Mysuru city from 6 am on Oct. 23, to 12 am on Oct. 26, under the Rule C of Noise Pollution (Regulation and Control) Rules, 2000.

On the measures to be undertaken to prevent seepage, Vombatkere said that there are standard ways of dealing with the seepage problem and the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC), District Administration and University of Mysore (UoM) must act immediately to stop seepage. "Apart from adopting immediate measures to check seepage, the civic authorities need to urgently take heed and be prepared," he added.

Seepage is a grave issue and must be resolved urgently, said S. Shylajesha, a green activist. "The 150-acre Lake was constructed by the Wadiyars 130 years ago mainly for drinking water purposes and the bund is as old as the Lake and was able to withstand the pressure of stored water till now. As the water body is located in the heart of the city and surrounded by residential and commercial areas, the authorities should not neglect it and take immediate corrective measures," he added.

A coordinated effort from the MCC, District Administration and the UoM must be made to ensure the safety of the residents and also must ensure that the Lake is not damaged as it is the only lung space for the city centre that supports a rich biodiversity.

Meanwhile, the University engineers are creating one more canal for the Lake water to drain into the Raja Kaluve that links to the lake on Nanjangud Road. This canal will carry excess water from the lake in case of additional rains and inflow, said engineers.

Earthmovers are being used to dig the 500-metre canal and the work is expected to be completed by this evening. This canal will be an additional drain apart from the sluice gate on the Bogadi Road bund that was recently repaired for the water to drain out.

Bharatiya Jain Sanghatan embarks on 'BJS Mission 100 Water Sufficient Districts'

Mysuru, Oct. 23- A meeting of Bharatiya Jain Sanghatan (BJS), Mysuru, members and community leaders was held in city recently to discuss 'BJS Mission 100 Water Sufficient Districts' programme.

Devendrappa and Sachin Yale from BJS Pune gave details about the situation of water in the country, necessity to conserve water and importance of watershed development projects.

Watershed development projects are being implemented in several aspirational districts across the country. In Karnataka, the programme is being implemented in association with the District Administration in two aspirational districts of Yadgir and Raichur.

The overwhelming support of the Government of Karnataka and implementing partners SKDRDP and Shilpa Foundation have empowered BJS and boosted their determination to transform the water-deficient districts to water-sufficient ones.

In two years of implementation (Dec. 2018 to July 2020) in Yadgir and Raichur, 51 water bodies were de-silted, excavating 29 lakh cubic meters of silt, increasing water storage capacity by 292 crore litres.

The silt removed from the water bodies benefited 5,346 farmers, they said in their detailed presentation.

The objective of the meeting was to create awareness and mobilise volunteers for implementing the water conservation programme in Mysuru also.

The members appreciated BJS for its efforts in Nation-building and BJS Mysuru Chapter offered its full support in implementing the programme in Mysuru.

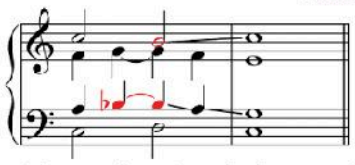
WORD OF THE DAY

Cadence



Pronunciation: KAY-dunss.
Meaning: Cadence is used to refer to various rhythmic or repeated motions, activities, or patterns of sound, or to a falling inflection of the voice.
Origin: A cadence is a rhythm, or a flow of words or music, in a sequence that is regular (or steady as it were). But lest we be mistaken, cadence also lends its meaning to the sounds of Mother Nature (such as birdsong) to be sure. Cadence comes from Middle English borrowed from Medieval Latin's own cadentia, a lovely word that means "rhythm in verse." (You may also recognise a cadence cousin, sweet cadenza, as a word that is familiar in the opera universe.) And from there our cadence traces just a little further backward to the Latin verb cadere "to sound rhythmically, to fall." Praise the rising and the falling of the lilting in our language, whether singing songs or rhyming or opining on it all.
Example: "The near four-minute track opens with [Erykah] Badu solemnly singing the words 'this bitter land' as violin strings lament Erykah's emotional words. She goes on to sing in a legato cadence saying, 'One with my soul / The fruit it bears / Leaves me so cold.'" — Amber McKynzie

THE ODD WORD

Cabasset

Light iron helmet.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

The camera cannot lie

Meaning: Literal meaning.
Origin: Printed photographs began to be available to the general public around the mid 19th century. When this phrase was coined, which appears to be just a few years later, the view that a photograph was a faithful representation of a scene, in a way that a subjective painting could never be, was a reasonable one. After all, the image that falls on the photographic plate is precisely what the camera is pointing at. Phrases like 'photographic memory' supported the view of photographs as precise and infallible records. Many of the earliest references to the phrase describe people's inability to believe that they look like their photographic portraits. Nevertheless, it may well be that the phrase was used ironically from the start. Whether or not people believed the notion of photographic veracity then, they certainly don't now. We know that the ubiquitous photographic images that fill our visual world are constructs rather than absolute truth. Even early manipulative techniques during the developing process could alter images to suit the photographer's intentions. Photography very soon became more an art form and less a recording process.
